My name is Jaclyn Boroff and I am Peace Corps volunteer currently serving in Albania. I am from Linden, Michigan and graduated from Grand Valley State University in April 2011 with a bachelors degree in Hospitality and Tourism Management.

My focus in Albania is to work with the local government in the southern district of Përmet, to help create the foundation for tourism in the region. I work with the local municipality in conjunction with Cesvi- an international nongovernmental organization based in Italy. Current and future projects have the mission to identify historical and cultural traditions to showcase as well as promoting the natural environmental attractions in order to create jobs and help the local economy through tourism.

As a Peace Corps volunteer I have been given the opportunity explore the beautiful geography of Albania as well as meet the extremely hospitable and proud people of Albania who are always excited to share their history, culture, and lots and lots of food. It is truly a country that the world should know more about and I am honored to be able to provide aid to the development of this wonderful place that is Albania.
