This document describes the current plan for course offerings within the Department of Mathematics. All courses, and especially spring/summer courses, are subject to cancellation for a variety of factors such as low enrollment or lack of demand. Please consult with your advisor regularly to ensure that your plan of study is consistent with the department’s planned offerings.

Courses offered every fall and winter semester: 097, 110, 122, 123, 125, 201, 202, 203, 210, 221, 222, 225, 227, 302, 310, 325, 341, 345, 408, 495

- Courses offered with at least one twilight (T, 4–6 p.m. start time) or evening (E, 6 p.m. or later start time) section:

- MTH 495 will be offered each semester at times that do not conflict with student assisting and student teaching. However, students and advisors are urged to plan programs that avoid the need to take a math class while student teaching or assisting.
