

Welcome to the Pre-major (undecided) Advising Program.

Grand Valley State University provides academic advising to Pre-major (undecided) students and has many people, programs, and courses to help you make the decision that's right for you. We recognize that choosing a major and a career direction is an important step in life.

If you are a Pre-Major (undecided) student or you are in-between majors, you are in the exciting position to explore and investigate all the possibilities that are available to you. Students often have no idea where to start, where to find resources available to help them, who to talk to or how to proceed. We're here to help you on this thrilling journey of self-discovery.

Who do I talk to?

Pre-major (undecided) students have been assigned to an advisor in the Student Academic Success Center, 200 STU. Your Pre-major advisor is available to help you through the process of choosing a major and/or career which is precise fit for you by helping you identify interests, strengths, and weaknesses as they relate to majors and future careers. If referrals need to be made, your advisor will connect you to other campus resources. While you are going through the process of deciding on a major and/or related career, your advisor will guide you through your general education requirements and help you interpret university policies, procedures, and degree requirements.
