Attached is the report of the results of the 2007 administration of the Cooperative Institutional Research Program Freshman Survey. The survey was administered during orientation last summer. The results reported here are for the 3,309 who indicated that they would be full-time FTIACs in the fall.

Following are some areas in which GVSU's freshmen differed from freshmen at similar schools nationwide. I have done some grouping into apparent themes, but please use your own judgment in interpreting the responses. For each item mentioned I have given the page number from the CIRP Institutional Summary where you can see the full questionnaire item and responses.

A report showing trends in GVSU freshmen's responses to selected items is also attached.
