GSI 201: (Dis)Order and (In)Justice: An Introduction to Global Studies
Professor Coeli Fitzpatrick | Monday/Wednesday | 3:00-4:15 pm | ASH 2121
An interdisciplinary introduction to global studies using themes of order/disorder and justice/injustice to explore problems and issues affecting people globally. Focuses on interconnectedness of global concerns and links between the local and global, primarily from a social science perspective. Possible topics: migration, human trafficking, food security, anti-globalization movements, infectious disease.

GSI/HST 202: History of Global Change and Social Transformation
Professor David Eaton | Monday/Wednesday | 1:30-2:45 pm | ASH 2121
A historical inquiry into long-term processes of global change and social transformation. Focus is on increasing interconnectedness of human communities from the deep past to the present, including spread of cultural, market and ecological exchanges, transport and communication technologies, developing ideas of social justice, and their connections to contemporary times.

FALL 2016

NEW COURSE OFFERINGS
GSI: Global Studies and Social Impact

WINTER 2017

GSI 201: (Dis)Order and (In)Justice: An Introduction to Global Studies
Professor Coeli Fitzpatrick | Monday/Wednesday | 3:00-4:15 pm | ASH 2121
An interdisciplinary introduction to global studies using themes of order/disorder and justice/injustice to explore problems and issues affecting people globally. Focuses on interconnectedness of global concerns and links between the local and global, primarily from a social science perspective. Possible topics: migration, human trafficking, food security, anti-globalization movements, infectious disease.

GSI/HST 202: History of Global Change and Social Transformation
Professor Craig Benjamin | Tuesday/Thursday | 4:00-5:15 pm | HON 218
A historical inquiry into long-term processes of global change and social transformation. Focus is on increasing interconnectedness of human communities from the deep past to the present, including spread of cultural, market and ecological exchanges, transport and communication technologies, developing ideas of social justice, and their connections to contemporary times.