

Futurenet Group, Inc.

Futurenet Group, Inc. provides environmental, engineering, construction, and technology services to local municipalities and agencies. President and Founder Perry Mehta came to the MI-SBTDC in April, 2004 with intentions of expanding the company's services to include internet and wireless solutions. Perry met with Regional Director Richard King and Business Consultant Latifah Bradwell to receive assistance with compiling market research and developing a business plan.

As a result, Futurenet Group, Inc. has experienced a revenue increase from $400,000 to more than $2 million annually and has increased its number of employees from 18 to 30. Today, the MI-SBTDC continues its assistance by exploring opportunities for Futurenet's emerging technologies through channels such as SBIR grants. With expanded services and a larger workforce, Perry credits the information, training, and one-on-one consulting services provided by the MI-SBTDC as an important factor in the successful growth of Futurenet Group, Inc.

The MI-SBTDC has played a very significant role in the development of Futurenet Group, Inc. and has helped us turn new technological ideas into reality by solving the world's water and energy problems through the utilization of solar energy & ocean water. With thier assistance, Futurenet Group competed and was awarded the largest contract from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. We attribute every major success to the MI-SBTDC.
