PRESENTATION TYPE

- ☐ Recorded Oral Presentation

- ☐ Film/Video
60 minute time slots available
- ☐ Live Performance
Music, Dance, Dramatic
- ☐ Mini-zines
Mini-zines are made using one 8.5"x11" piece of paper. It has eight pages including a front and back cover. Mini-zines are a great way to present your scholarship to people unfamiliar with your subject because it is less intimidating than a full length typed research paper. Making a mini-zine also encourages students to flex their literacy skills because they have to condense an entire paper into about six main points, and communicate why those points are important in a succinct way. During SSD, mini-zines will be displayed in (a building). You are required to have one completed mini-zine to hang, and a deconstructed version available right below so viewers don't necessarily have to handle the display zine. To make this deconstructed version, students will make an enlarged copy of their zine onto an 11"x17" piece of copy paper, cut out the individual pages, set them onto another piece of 11"x17" piece of copy paper, and use that copy.
