Antiracism in Cuba: The Unfinished Revolution

Tuesday, February 7, 2017, 3:00-4:15 pm
Kirkhof Center 2215/2216

Dr. Devyn Spence Benson is an Assistant Professor of Africana and Latin American Studies at Davidson College. She is a historian of 19th-20th century Latin America with a focus on race and revolution in Cuba. She is the author of published articles and reviews in the Hispanic American Historical Review, Journal of Cuban Studies, Journal of Transnational American Studies, and PALARA: Publication of the Afro-Latin / American Research Association. Benson's book, Antiracism in Cuba: The Unfinished Revolution (UNC Press, 2016) is based on over 18 months of field research in Cuba where she has traveled annually since 2003.

If you require special accommodations or information, please contact the Area and Global Studies office at 331-8110 or areastudies@gvsu.edu.