A Note about Publications

University Publications are largely digitized documents. This means that University Archives holds physical copies within Seidman House in addition to the digital copies. This may be useful if you come across issues with the digitized version.

Some newspaper articles, in particular, may suffer from readability issues. The physical copy may still be perfectly legible.

If you come across an issue and cannot read the text, contact collections@gvsu.edu or visit Seidman House to view the original copy.
