

MSW APPLICATION FOR FIELD EDUCATION PLACEMENT REGULAR STATUS STUDENTS

YOUR AUDIENCE

As you complete your application, keep in mind that you are writing for two audiences. The first audience is faculty who will review your work and help determine the Field Site that will be the best fit for your Field Education. The second audience is the person who will interview you for Field Education placement at the Field Site. Your application will be shared with the Field Site to facilitate their preparation to interviewing you for Field Education.

COMPONENTS OF THE APPLICATION FOR FIELD EDUCATION

The application for Field Education Placement consists of five parts, each of which must be completed at the time of submission. The first part comprises the Application for Field Education. The Application for Field Education provides vital information that will be used to match you to a Field Site.

The second part requires writing a one-page essay on each of the three fields of practice where you have an interest in completing Field Education. The essays will serve as a sample of your writing for the person who will interview you at the Field Site, therefore they should reflect your best written work.

The third part requires that you submit an up-to-date resume. The resume should reflect your paid and volunteer experiences. If you have questions about formats or what to include in a resume please consult with your faculty advisor or the Career Center at Grand Valley State University.

Prior to the beginning of the semester in which you begin Field Education, the MSW Field Education Coordinator will review your academic transcript and ensure you have met the academic requirements for Field Education which are (1) you have received a passing grade in the social work core courses (SW 600, SW 601, SW 603 and SW 620) that are prerequisites for Field Education; (2) you have no more than one incomplete grade during the semester that you are to begin Field Education; (3) you have achieved a minimum GPA of 3.0 by the beginning of the semester that you are to begin Field Education and; (4) that you are on track to complete coursework by the time you complete Field Education.

Finally, we ask for you include a photo of yourself. The photo will not be shared with your potential Field Site, but will be used by the Field Education Office for student identification purposes.

Please submit all application materials via email to Michelle Hodde at hoddem@gvsu.edu.
