

Scholarly Communications Services at GVSU Libraries

For Graduate Students

---

ScholarWorks@GVSU

<http://scholarworks.gvsu.edu>

ScholarWorks is GVSU's open access repository, a platform for sharing the scholarly, creative, and educational output of faculty, staff, and students.

Sharing Scholarship

ScholarWorks offers Grand Valley authors a place to provide access to their scholarship; to share text, video, images, and data; and to showcase exemplary work. ScholarWorks is a great tool to increase the reach and impact of the research you create.

Last year, items from ScholarWorks were downloaded 737,000 times, by students and scholars from all 50 states, as well as 193 nations and territories.

ScholarWorks and Your Thesis/Dissertation

The Office of Graduate Studies requires that you deposit a copy of your approved thesis or dissertation in ScholarWorks. To do so, simply send a copy of your final version, along with a completed permission form, to scholarworks@gvsu.edu. You can find more information as well as our permission forms in the Graduate Handbook and on the Office of Graduate Studies' website!

If your thesis or dissertation includes patentable or proprietary information, or you're concerned about being able to publish it in a scholarly journal, please contact us. We can help you keep your options open while still eventually making your research widely available.

Projects

If you will develop a final project for your degree, you may be required to deposit an electronic copy in ScholarWorks as described above, or submit a printed copy to the Libraries. If you have questions about formatting your project or how to have your project bound, contact your department for specific instructions.

Publishing Services

Ever wanted to create your own scholarly journal or organize a conference for your research area? ScholarWorks provides a complete suite of tools to help GVSU scholars set up and publish open access journals and online books. The same tools can help you organize conferences or scholarly events, and share the results with researchers around the world!

Copyright & Fair Use

www.gvsu.edu/library/copyright
Concerned about copyright? We can help! Between the public domain, fair use, and open licenses, there's lots of ways for you to use others' content in your own scholarship! We offer resources, workshops, and individual consultations.

We can also help you manage your own rights in the research and scholarship which you create! Contact us for information on creative commons licenses, assistance understanding publishing contracts, and more.

Journal Quality Indicators

www.gvsu.edu/library/sc/oajqi
Thinking of publishing in a journal that you and your advisor aren't familiar with? Use our guidelines to help assess its quality.