Clemente was nominated by the Green Party as a vice presidential candidate in the 2008's election. Along with Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney, the pair became the first women of color ticket in American history. For more than 15 years, Clemente has been a community organizer and activist, and a featured keynote speaker, panelist and political commentator. In 1995, she developed Know Thy Self Productions, which has since produced four major community activism tours. She also consults on issues such as hip-hop activism, media justice, voter engagement among youth of color, third-party politics, intercultural relations between African Americans and Latinos, immigrants' rights as an extension of human rights and universal health care.
