Re: Materials for the JJV 20/20 Fall Conference

Greetings,

On behalf of the Juvenile Justice Vision 20/20's (JJV 20/20) Executive Team, thank you to all who attended the Juvenile Justice Vision 20/20 Virtual Fall Conference in partnership with the Michigan Judicial Institute (MJJ), entitled -

All Kids Can Succeed, No Exceptions! Instilling Hope in Youth and Families in Juvenile Justice.

We sincerely hope your time was well-spent and you enjoyed the presentations as the speakers shared their expertise and perspectives about "hope" from different aspects.

As promised, we are sending you the speaker materials through a link posted on the Juvenile Justice Vision 20/20 website at:

<https://www.qvsu.edu/juvenilejusticevision2020/october-2020-virtual-training-event-44.htm>

You may also search using your browser for "Juvenile Justice Vision 20/20", and the website will pop-up along with the tab "Conferences and Events".

The materials were too large to send as individual documents, videos, etc. so this was our solution to the problem.

The conference videos of all the presentations are also posted on the JJV 20/20 website.

Please note, for those who are interested in viewing Dr. Faye Mandell's presentation, her video link is as follows:

Additionally, Rick Miller, Charlie Appelstein and Dr. Robert Maurer have several videos of their work available for free on YouTube.com.

We look forward to building our partnership with Rick Miller at Kids at Hope and other professional experts, to further a "culture of hope" within juvenile justice in Michigan. Please stay tuned for future training opportunities in 2021, too; we invite you to join us to learn, grow, and support a strong, educated, well trained juvenile justice workforce through our educational offerings!

Finally, PLEASE share your feedback! instead of sending out a conference evaluation to everyone in attendance, we are asking you send your comments/thoughts/ideas for future trainings to Andrea Reenders or me as follows:

Andrea's email: areenders@miottawa.org Sandi's email: smetcal774@gmail.com

We will collect your comments and pass them along to the Executive Team and Team 5 members who facilitate the conference planning process. Your input and ideas for future trainings are critical to this process, and your thoughts are always valued. Thank you!

Wishing you a safe, healthy, and happy holiday season full of hope!
