Boys Town

For more than 100 years, Boys Town has been saving children and healing families across America. As one of the country's largest privately funded organizations caring for at-risk youth, Boys Town is a leader in the care and treatment of boys and girls who desperately need love, compassion, and guidance. The village of Boys Town provides care and treatment to more than 500 boys and girls, typically ages 10-17. Located near Omaha, Nebraska, the residential campus is comprised of 66 Treatment Family Homes. Each home features a family-style treatment approach, in which a specially trained married couple lives in the home 24 hours a day, utilizing the Boys Town Teaching Model. These Family Teachers use behavioral principles to teach youth life and social skills, build appropriate relationships, and help youth develop self-discipline. Boys Town operates two schools in the village: Boys Town High School and Wegner Middle School. Both are fully accredited by the Nebraska Department of Education and the North Central Association and offer extra-curricular activities and athletics to youth, to create a more normalized setting. The Boys Town National Research Hospital is located on campus and is accessible to youth for regular doctor and mental health visits.

Today we provide a wide array of counseling, intervention, training and support services to children, youth, parents, families, and other individuals and organizations throughout Michigan. We are dedicated to our founding concepts and maintain an unfailing commitment to our vision of creating brighter futures for children, their families and communities.
