Course Description

This course examines the behavioral characteristics of students with Autism Spectrum Disorder and overviews interventions to reduce problem behavior. Topics include data collection and functional behavior assessment, as well as the development of behavior intervention plans based on knowledge of functions. Interventions include preventative, skill development-based, and reinforcement strategies.

Course Objectives

1. Identify behavioral issues associated with autism spectrum disorder and how problem behaviors impact student success in school and community settings.
2. Identify strategies to address problem behavior in schools based on a tiered model of intervention.
3. Understand the use of a problem-solving process applied to individual student problem behaviors.
4. Use multiple, appropriate assessment tools to assess problem behavior, including data collection procedures and functional behavior assessment.
5. Develop behavior intervention plans that consider the function and context of problem behavior.
6. Apply the Prevent-Teach-Reinforce-Respond model to address problem behavior within a school context.
7. Identify interventions that prevent problem behavior, including the use of visual supports, and self-monitoring systems.
8. Identify interventions that teach alternatives to problem behavior, including social skill interventions, coping and self-regulation skills, and Functional Communication Training.
9. Identify interventions that reinforce appropriate behavior.

Blackboard is the Course Management System

To access Blackboard, go to <https://lms.gvsu.edu/> and enter your log in and password.

This course utilizes Blackboard, GVSU's online course management system. Take a look at the GVSU Online Learning pages to and find numerous materials about using Blackboard and online learning <http://www.gvsu.edu/online/>.

Use of Blackboard is integral to this course and students must log on a few times each week in order to complete course requirements, receive important announcements and updates, and communicate with instructors and other students about course content and requirements.

Check the current technical requirements to use Blackboard - <http://www.gvsu.edu/online/what-about-the-technology--8.htm>.

Technical difficulties with Blackboard

If you experience technical problems with Blackboard, contact the help desk by email or phone - helpdesk@gvsu.edu or 616-331-3513. The help website is <https://www.gvsu.edu/elearn/help/blackboard-support-85.htm>

Accessing the Library

Many of GVSU's library resources can be accessed online Distance and Hybrid Learning Services with many journal articles available on demand. You must have an active GVSU student account to take advantage of the library's resources and services.

Graduate Writing Resources

Graduate Writing Resources are available to assist with all kinds of writing tasks and they will give feedback on writing assignments. It is not just for students who struggle with writing. They can help any student improve writing skills.

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

If you need specific accommodations and you have a documented disability, contact the Disability Support Resources Office at 616-331-2490 to coordinate accommodations. If you plan to request accommodations in this course, please let me know right away so I can assist you.

COURSE ORGANIZATION and ASSIGNMENTS

Unit Modules

There will be six, two-week modules and one three-week module in this course. Each unit will include readings, lectures, an assignment, discussion board activities, and a quiz. Assignments will be due at the end of the unit. All previous units will be open throughout the course.

Readings

You will have book chapters and articles to read weekly. Stay caught up on the readings as this is where you will learn much of the content for the autism endorsement. The required book for this course should be a helpful reference tool that you can continue to use throughout your career in working with students with behavior problems. Additional readings (chapters and journal articles) will be posted in Blackboard.

Lectures

There will be a series of recorded lectures for each module. These lectures are beneficial to support your understanding of the reading content and to help you engage in assignments, quizzes and other course activities.

Discussion Board

Discussion board activities will be posted for most units to promote engagement with topics covered in the unit. Most discussion board activities will involve questions that you respond to through Blackboard in either pairs or groups. A couple of discussion board activities will involve live sessions with your classmates through Zoom. I will schedule these with you in the advance and will provide options for either daytime or evening meetings that allow you to participate.

Assignments

You will have an assignment associated with each learning module. These will vary in type and length but most will involve practice or application of concepts from the unit content. These are graded and will constitute an important part of your learning and grade for the course. All written assignments must be prepared in a professional manner (typed, and free from spelling/grammatical errors). More information about each of these assignments will be provided on Blackboard.

Quizzes

Each unit will have a brief quiz. These quizzes will primarily focus on content from the readings and recorded lectures. Quizzes may involve a combination of multiple choice and short answer questions. Most quizzes will be open for the full unit, but you should plan to allow time to complete your review of readings and lectures before beginning the quiz.

GVSU POLICIES AND ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

This course is subject to the GVSU policies listed at <http://www.gvsu.edu/coursepolicies/>

Statement of Student Rights and Responsibilities: “Standards of conduct are established in order to foster a community and environment where the mission, vision and values of Grand Valley State University... can flourish. These standards are embodied within a set core of values that include integrity, community, inclusion & equity, respect, and responsibility. The University conduct process exists to protect the interests of the community and to challenge those whose behavior falls outside of these values and our policies.”

Academic Misconduct Policies and Procedures According to GVSU Code STU 5.1, “Academic Misconduct is defined as any action or behavior that misrepresents one’s contributions to or the results of any scholarly product submitted for credit, evaluation, or dissemination.” Additional information about the following aspects of Academic Misconduct, including cheating, collusion, dual submission, falsification, and plagiarism is available here.

In addition to being bound by GVSU codes and policies regarding academic conduct, it is my belief that, as teachers, it is critical that we model and support the behaviors we want to see in our students. Integrity and honesty are, and should be, fundamental to our profession. We all need to represent these characteristics and assure that students learn these valuable lessons through us.

Thoughts on a Successful Online Learning Experience

Taking an online course is different from traditional classroom courses. You will take a larger role in organizing your time and guiding your own learning. The role of the instructor becomes facilitator, guide, and resource to help you learn the course material and apply it in your personal and professional life. I am here to assist you, so let me know what you need.

As a successful online learner, you will interact with the course materials regularly; manage your time; share thoughts and experiences with others; critically reflect on material; and apply what you are learning. You are the conductor of your own learning, which is what lifelong learning is all about!

Much to the surprise of many students, online courses are not easier than traditional courses. Quite the contrary. You may have more flexibility and less travel, but the content is the same and you have a greater responsibility for your learning. There are also more opportunities and expectations to participate in discussions. Online learning is an excellent format, but it is not and should not be passive. You want to be actively engaged with your instructor, other students, and your own thinking.

Tips for a Successful Learning Experience

- Read the syllabus and all preparatory information on Blackboard
- Stay organized and track due dates
- Plan weekly study times
- Keep up on the reading
- Listen and take notes while you review recorded lectures. It is easier to be distracted by email and home life when you're not sitting in a classroom, but it is essential to your learning that you are focusing on the content.
- Log on to Blackboard at least 3 times per week to check announcements, discussion board, and interact with course material
- Get to know the other students in the class and help each other learn the language and the concepts
- Post questions, comments, and ideas on discussion board
- Ask questions of the instructor. Not just clarification questions about logistics, but content questions.
