

Campus Climate Incident Reporting Process

Grand Valley State University strives to create an inclusive and equitable campus community where people are treated with dignity and respect. In this community people share thoughts freely, learn from each other, and demonstrate mutual respect and caring for one another despite differences in thinking.

If anyone in the Grand Valley community feels belittled, disrespected, or isolated based on their identity, there is a mechanism to report the concern (see below). The university is committed to safeguarding individual's constitutional rights to free speech and assembly and, we are also committed to addressing campus climate concerns that may negatively affect individuals and/or communities at the university.

Grand Valley facilitates educational dialogue to ensure that individuals understand both their right to free expression within the community and the impact of their expression on individuals and/or the community. Any time an incident is reported, through the Campus Climate Concerns system, the reporting party will be contacted and informed about support resources available to them at the university. Incidents that may violate university policies or the student code will be investigated through the proper adjudicating body or bodies.

Reporting a Campus Climate Incident

If you have observed or experienced a campus climate incident, please report it through any of the following ways:

Online: Click here

(If you wish to remain anonymous, please use the online reporting option)

By Phone or In Person:

Stacy Piasecki, Lead Civil Rights Investigator & Deputy Title IX Coordinator
Division of Inclusion & Equity
4015 James H. Zumberge Hall (JHZ)
616-331-2242