1. Please work to fill in the following table:

Term	Current definition	Our suggestion
Online
Hybrid

HyFlex
Synchronous
Asynchronous
Self-paced
Presence: physical	Not currently used at GVSU
Presence: virtual	Not currently used at GVSU
Timing: simultaneous	Not currently used at GVSU
Timing: non-simultaneous	Not currently used at GVSU

Christine Renner referenced this table (as an example and for informational purposes)

Designations	In person	Online	Real Time	Notes
Face-to-face	Y	N	Y
Online - asynch	N	Y	N	I don't like the words "synchronous" and "asynchronous" but I don't have good alternatives at the moment; what I am proposing is that we specify more clearly upfront for students (and possibly in the curricular approval process)
Online - synch	N	Y	Y
Hybrid	Y	Y	Y (in person) Y or N (online)	Do we want to make the distinction, as OSU does , between hybrid (50% in person) and distance enhanced (1-24% in person)? We also don't readily distinguish courses with SYNCHRONOUS online components
Dual Delivery	Y	Y	Y	Some students in person and some virtual; students register to attend either in person or virtually

Dual Flex	Y	Y	Y	I am using Flex here to indicate that for this option, students can choose whether or not to attend in person or engage remotely; what is not accounted here for is a modality wherein students can choose between in-person and online ASYNCHRONOUS; do we want to even go here with kind of modality?

2. Discuss “flex” definition, how does the above table influence our consideration of this term?
