Video & Digital Media Workshops

Creating Engaging and Interactive Digital Media

(2/27) 1:00pm – 3:00pm (EC513 – Pew) | (3/23) 1:00-3:00pm (EC513 – Pew)

There are a variety of tools that can be used to create video content, many of which are free and web-based. During this demonstration workshop, we'll explore a potpourri of such tools, including software for tablet and smartphone video, green screens, and Elmo document cameras.

Glue Them to Their Seats: Redeeming PowerPoint through Neuroscience and Good Design

(2/8) 1:00pm – 3:00pm (EC513 – Pew)

In this workshop we will rehabilitate PowerPoint by learning a new design aesthetic. This approach will cure most of PowerPoint's evils, make you a more effective communicator, and will glue your audience to their seats. The optional second half of the workshop will include various hands-on lessons applying the workshop's principles, and participants are encouraged to bring their own laptop if they have one.

How to Edit and Manipulate Digital Images

(2/23) 10:00am – 12:00pm (EC513 – Pew)

Learn to edit and enhance your digital images using a variety of "free" image editing websites and applications. These tools let users perform many helpful functions such as reducing the size of an image, change file types, crop, rotate, balance colors, create special effects and add text to images. This seminar will also cover how to capture images from your computer's display and save them as digital images.

Photoshop for MAC: Top 10 Tools and Tricks

(4/13) 1:00pm – 4:00pm (EC513 – Pew)

Photoshop CC can transform ordinary photographs into something beautiful, unusual or even out of this world, but learning the software can be a daunting task. With this basic introduction, you'll learn to restore photos, apply special picture effects and add text to images. Note: Photoshop CC is available in all GVSU labs. Photoshop CC is not a part of GVSU's general use software and is not purchased for attendees. The software is available for departmental purchase.
