

I am eager to continue serving on the Executive Committee of the University Academic Senate. Over the past three years, I have represented the former College of Education (COE) and the current College of Education and Community Innovation (CECI) with dedication. I have actively contributed to Senate work, leveraging my expertise in higher education to address the unique needs of CECI.

During my term, I chaired two ECS task forces—Title IX Investigation Review and Equity in Personnel Policies—and served on three others, bringing valuable insights back to the college. Notably, I helped establish the CECI Task Force for Equity and Inclusion in personnel processes, informed by my work on the EPP Task Force.

I advocate for stronger communication between university and college governance and, if re-elected, will focus on increasing transparency and amplifying CECI faculty voices. I aim to collaborate closely with CECI senators to assess and communicate our college's needs more

Karyn E. Rabourn, Ph.D.

Associate Professor, M.Ed. in Higher Education Program