

I would like to serve on the faculty grievance panel. My 15 years of experience as an attorney make me uniquely qualified to fulfill the duties of the position, including reviewing decisions to ensure they were reached appropriately and, if necessary, performing substantive re-examination of cases.

Having led the Legal Studies program for approximately seven years and served on various department, college, and university-level committees, I feel that the faculty grievance panel is a logical next step and merges my skills, experiences, and abilities.
