This course focuses mainly on American TV series and discusses their characteristics (narration, aesthetics, and topics).

=====

Intitulé en français : Actualité politique internationale III

Intitulé en anglais : Political Science and Current Affairs

Code : LMISP53D

Niveau et semestre : Licence 3, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 12h

ECTS : 2

Course content : The objective of this lesson is twofold: initially it serves as a continuation of the application of a foreign language within a specific domain, yet it also aims to establish and further the core knowledge of students within the field of Political Science, and in particular that of current affairs. Not only should it provide students with key elements of vocabulary within the chosen language, but also encourage them to question and further the knowledge they already hold within their native language. As such, it is neither a pure language course, nor a pure political science course, but a combination of both, adapted for each group of students, their requirements and their objectives.

Furthermore, this course aims to establish a balance between practical and theoretical work, between oral and written production. Students are not only expected to be present for each lesson, but are actively encouraged to participate and engage with the material, and will be graded accordingly. Each week we will look at recent political events in Anglo-Saxon media from around the world, covering such topics as: Brexit, Immigration, Globalisation, Elections, Social Movements, International Relations etc. Key background knowledge will be provided during each lesson which the students will be expected to analyse, then lead to further group discussion. The course will cover a diverse range of material, taken from documentaries, TED talks, newspapers and online articles. Students will be expected to analyse these sources effectively, evaluating the effects of media-framing and agenda-setting on specific audiences. Thus, identifying how media coverage can both inform and shape public opinion, in particular the ongoing influence of so called fake news and the information wars in moulding and manipulating contemporary political discourse.

Postgraduate

Intitulé en français : Synthèse et communication anglais/français

Intitulé en anglais : Synthesis and communication

Code : MLALA1101D1

Niveau et semestre : Master 1, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 24h

ECTS : 2

Course content : Students learn how to analyze a set of documents (video, interview, articles, graphs, maps...) on a timely topic and write in English an organized synthesis on the subject.

=====

Intitulé en français : Communication interculturelle

Intitulé en anglais : Intercultural Communication

Code : MLACI1102E1

Niveau et semestre : Master 1, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 18h

ECTS : 2

Course content : This course is an introduction to the concepts of Intercultural Communication as researched by Geert Hofstede and Fons Trompenaars. Students learn new ways to analyze and measure cultural differences through the notion of cultural dimensions. The main learning objective of the course is the ability to identify, discuss and compare different behavior across cultures and explain where these differences come from. Students should also be able to predict certain behaviors in different circumstances to reduce the possibility of culture shock – or explain why it has happened. Students also apply their newly acquired knowledge to explain how companies tailor their advertising to correspond to different cultures.

Students are also exposed to the research into corporate culture and learn about different ways companies are organized. Students also have to prepare a questionnaire on corporate culture and interview friends/family members about their experience in the workplace.

Intitulé en français : Communication d'entreprise

Intitulé en anglais : Business Communication

Code : MLACI1102E2

Niveau et semestre : Master 1, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 18h

ECTS : 2

Course content : Students look at communication strategies put in place by companies to communicate with shareholders, staff, customers or potential customers.

Intitulé en français : Politiques publiques

Intitulé en anglais : Public Policies

Code : MLARI1102O1

Niveau et semestre : Master 1, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 18h

ECTS : 2

Course content : Over the first semester, students will focus on how to define public policy and further understand the different types and formats of public policy. The evolution of public policies through public policy actors (governmental institutions) and non traditional actors (lobbies) along with a sequential analysis of public policies is anticipated. The influence of national politics on wider European and non european public policies (2016 New-York Declaration) with regards to mixed migration movements will be highlighted in this course.

=====

Intitulé en français : Économie de la mondialisation

Intitulé en anglais : Global Economy

Code : MLARI1104O1

Niveau et semestre : Master 1, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 18h

Intitulé en anglais : Cross-cultural conflict management

Code : MLACI2302D4

Niveau et semestre : Master 2, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 18h

ECTS : 2

Course content : The course analyzes intercultural conflicts at three levels: international, inter-corporation and inter-individual. By deconstructing the cultural dimension in each of these three cases, the course aims at opening practical paths to conflicts resolution.

=====

Intitulé en français : Presse, éthique et médias anglophones

Intitulé en anglais : Press, ethics and English-speaking media

Code : MLALA2301D1

Niveau et semestre : Master 2, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 24h

ECTS : 2

Course content : Students are given an overview of the media in English speaking countries (mainly US and UK), the evolution of the role of the media over the last few years. Students also consider the role of ethics in the press.

=====

Intitulé en français : Anthropologie interculturelle

Intitulé en anglais : Intercultural anthropology

Code : MLACI2303E1

Niveau et semestre : Master 2, semestre 1

Volume horaire : 24h

ECTS : 3

Course content : If culture has been one of social anthropology's main concern, relations between individuals and groups of distinctive cultures refer to a relatively recent interest of anthropologists. By trying to deconstruct the notion of culture and to confront it with specifying or rivaling notions such as history, power identity and language, the course brings the students to have a critical approach of culturalism and culture models usually offered by intercultural management studies.
