The academic programme

Kingston University is particularly well known for its diverse range of modules and subject areas available to Study Abroad students. You design your own study plan, which is later approved by your home university and by Kingston.

British Life and Culture module

We offer this special module for Study Abroad students (code XA1067) to help you get the most from your time in the UK. The module will introduce you to British life, culture and history, complemented by excursions and day trips to places such as: Oxford, Parliament, Stonehenge and Brighton. Students taking this class are required to pay an additional fee to cover the cost of the fieldtrips.

Period of study

The UK's standard academic year runs from September to June, with teaching taking place over two semesters. For Study Abroad students there are three possible study options at Kingston:

Study option	Length	Study period
1	Whole year	Sept–June
2	Autumn (fall)	Sept–Dec
3	Spring/Summer	Jan–June

Modules

Classes at Kingston University are taught as part of a highly structured degree programme made up of individual components called modules. Each module has defined content, contact hours, learning outcomes and assessment.

Modules are measured in credits, and the table below shows how our credits correlate with US semester credit hours and the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS).

As a guide, 15 Kingston credits = 4 US credits / 7.5 ECTS credits.

Study option	Kingston credits	US	ECTS
1	120	32	60
2/3	60	16	30

Important

Credit value can vary from module to module, depending on the length of the module and the intensity of delivery.

“I truly enjoyed the British Life and Culture class. One of the greatest perks about taking the class is the trips around the United Kingdom.”

Cathy Waters, University of North Carolina Charlotte
Spring 2011

LRC, Kingston Hill campus

The academic programme

Selecting modules

Modules are designed to be studied at certain stages in an undergraduate programme. As a result, modules are grouped in levels. Each module is coded from 1–3, which indicates its suitability for a first-, second- or a third-year UK student.

In the UK, students generally specialise in secondary (high) school. This is much earlier than, for example, in North America, and therefore UK students will normally have chosen their major when they enter university.

The table below shows the correlation between the different systems:

UK Education	US Education	Example of Kingston Module Coding	Suitability for Kingston Module
Final year of secondary (high) school	Freshman year at college/university	N/A	N/A
First year of university study – Year 1	Sophomore	Year 1 module eg AR1001	No prior knowledge in the subject
Second year of university study – Year 2	Junior	Year 2 module eg HA2448	Some relevant background / completion of introductory class
Third and final year of university study – Year 3	Senior	Year 3 module eg CW3188	Strong academic background in the subject

Summer School

If you cannot spend a semester or year with us, you might want to consider our very popular four-week Summer School, which runs in July. See: www.kingston.ac.uk/summerschool

“My teachers and tutors were knowledgeable, excited about their subject, and always available for help. I appreciated not being spoon-fed, but being given the academic freedom to pursue the aspects of the course that I found most interesting.”

Leslie Pitman, Queens University of Charlotte (via Eurolearn)
Spring 2010

Assessment

Modules have their own specific assessment requirements. These can vary between schools and faculties but may include a mixture of written papers, examinations, special tests, presentations or productions, or other practical assignments.

Some semester 1 modules are assessed by a formal exam, which takes place at Kingston in January. In such cases, these modules are not suitable for students leaving in December; but, in some instances, alternative assessment may have been agreed between the European and Study Abroad Office and the relevant faculty. This will be clearly indicated in the online module directory.

Credit transfer

Unlike the grading system in some international countries, marks in UK universities generally range between 40% (pass mark) and 70%. Consequently, a grade of 60–69% is considered very good.

At the end of your study period, the European and Study Abroad Office will produce a certificate of credits earned showing the US credit value and a letter grading designed to be compatible with the US system, shown below.

US letter grade	Kingston (percentage)	Qualitative grade
A+	80+	Equivalent to UK First Class
A	70–79	Equivalent to UK First Class
A–	65–69	Equivalent to UK Upper Second Class
B+	60–64	Equivalent to UK Lower Second Class
B	55–59	Equivalent to UK Lower Second Class
B–	50–54	Equivalent to UK Lower Second Class
C+	47–49	Equivalent to UK Third Class
C	43–46	Equivalent to UK Third Class
C–	40–42	Equivalent to UK Third Class
D	35–39	Unclassified Pass
F	Below 35	Fail

Learning environment

Teaching methods vary from subject to subject, however most involve a mixture of formal lectures and smaller seminars, which provide the foundation for further independent study. Independent study is a major part of the British education system and you may find this both challenging and rewarding. Other teaching methods include:

- Online references and teaching
- Language suite work
- Laboratory work
- Engineering workshops
- Computer workshops
- Art and design studio work

Standard University-arranged accommodation will cost between £85 and £120.25* per week.

US financial aid

Kingston University is not able to administer any financial aid / scholarships that Study Abroad students would normally receive through their home college / university.

BUTEX scholarships for North American students

The British Universities Transatlantic Exchange Association (BUTEX) scholarship is available to all undergraduate students currently registered at an institution in the USA or Canada. To apply for this, you must have received a formal study abroad offer from a UK university that is a member of BUTEX, such as Kingston University.

Each scholarship is worth US$500 (as of 2011) and will be paid to the recipient after they have enrolled at Kingston University. Please visit www.butex.ac.uk for further details.

Entry requirements

Academic requirements

Current undergraduate university/college students of any nationality are welcome to join our Study Abroad Programme. To be eligible to apply, you must have:

- Successfully completed at least one year of university study by the time you enrol at Kingston University
- A cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 on a 1–4 scale (or equivalent qualification*)

If your GPA is below this level, contact us, especially if there are special circumstances.

In addition to the general requirements, please note that higher level modules may have specific prerequisites, which are detailed in our online module directory: www.kingston.ac.uk/studyabroadclasses

*We are familiar with the grading systems of many countries, so please contact us to check for equivalencies.

English language requirements

If English is not your first language, you need to prove your level of English. We recommend that applicants do the IELTS Academic English test, which is the most common test. We will consider other recognised English language tests. The minimum requirement is IELTS 6.5 overall, with no individual score lower than 5.5.

If your level of English is not high enough, you may be able to take one of our pre-session English courses that take place in the summer before enrolment in September.

These vary in length between five and 15 weeks, depending on your current English language score. Visit www.kingston.ac.uk/presessional for further details.
