Courses	Student Learning Outcomes
	DNP graduates possess a wide array of knowledge gleaned from the sciences and have the ability to translate that knowledge quickly and effectively to benefit patients in the daily demands of practice environments.	DNP students demonstrate sophisticated expertise in assessing organizations, identifying systems' issues, and facilitating organization-wide changes in practice delivery that emphasizes practice, ongoing improvement of health outcomes, and patient safety.	DNP students use analytic methods to critically appraise existing literature and other evidence to determine and implement the best evidence for practice.	DNP students design, select, use, and evaluate programs that evaluate and monitor outcomes of care, care systems, and quality improvement including consumer use of health care information systems.	DNP students advocate for social justice, equity, and ethical policies within all healthcare arenas.	DNP students employ effective communication and collaborative skills in the development and implementation of practice models, peer review, practice guidelines, health policy, standards of care, and/or other scholarly products.	DNP students synthesize concepts, including psychosocial dimensions and cultural diversity, related to clinical prevention and population health in developing, implementing, and evaluating interventions to address health promotion/disease prevention efforts, improve health status/access patterns, and/or address gaps in care of individuals, aggregates, or populations.	DNP graduates demonstrate advanced levels of clinical judgment, systems thinking, and accountability in designing, delivering, and evaluating evidence-based care to improve patient outcomes.
