Kathy A. Agard Fellowships in Community Philanthropy
Dorothy A. Johnson Center for Philanthropy
Applications due April 19, 2019

The Kathy A. Agard Fellowship in Philanthropy was initiated by friends and colleagues of Kathy Agard in recognition of her years of service, her dedication, and the impact she made on the field of community philanthropy.

About the Fellowship

The Agard Fellowship is designed to assist students at Grand Valley State University – undergraduate or graduate in any major or program – interested in studying community philanthropy including individual giving, community foundations, giving circles, nonprofit organizations, public foundations, and related topics in conducting a research project of their suggestion within this field.

Two Agard Fellows will be selected for the academic year of 2019-2020. Each will receive a stipend of $2,500 and will be expected to engage in independent research or work on advanced projects with a Faculty mentor, to expand the understanding of individual or organized philanthropy. The resulting product(s) will be presented by the Agard Fellow in the following year.

If academic credit is desired, the appointed Fellow should arrange for an independent study course with a faculty member of their choice, and should create a product suitable for obtaining credit. The Agard Fellows will meet with Dr. Agard at least at the beginning of the fellowship period, but perhaps more. The Agard Fellows will be announced near the end of the Winter 2019 semester, and will begin work in the Fall semester.
