Lindsay Burr

Barry, Peter, and Lindsay offer a fresh way of seeing and addressing reoccurring conflicts and tensions that affect the health of communities. They offer an important message and skill to help manage chronic issues, rather than avoid them. You will take home practical knowledge to engage members of your community in addressing polarizing dilemmas, where both sides are not only "right", but need each other's wisdom to achieve a greater purpose.

The legacy of today's interprofessional health care leaders will be the successful transformation of the health care system at the point of care. Most health care leaders and providers are masters of problem solving. However, the major issues haunting health care today are combinations of problems and polarities. When health care professionals are not clear about how to differentiate between problems and polarities, then we waste time, money and energy.

The Polarity Institute brings foundational and advanced skills of Polarity Thinking™ to interprofessional teams in academia, research and practice. The sessions move from theory to daily realities. This workshop explores both simple and complex applications of Polarity Thinking™ and is intended for interprofessional clinicians, managers, executives, consultants, educators and researchers.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE TUTORING AND MENTORING

This is to let you know that I have volunteered to help out with tutoring and mentoring needs for the School of Criminal Justice. My name is Dick Grossenbacher. I am a retired Special Agent of the U.S. Secret Service (29 years) and after retirement was honored to serve among you as a GVSU criminal justice adjunct instructor for 17 years. While I am anticipating the demand to come mostly from 101 students, I am available for any students that need some extra help. You or your student can reach out to me at grossenr@gvsu.edu.
