

GVSU PAS Student Inclement Weather Policy for Clinical Rotations

1. Students participating in clinical rotations are expected to attend their assigned clinical site if the site remains open, even during inclement weather. It is the student's responsibility to verify the operational status of their clinical site directly with the site or designated clinical supervisor.
2. In cases where the student deems travel unsafe due to hazardous weather conditions, they must promptly communicate their absence to both their clinical site supervisor and the PAS clinical education team. Students exercising discretion for safety reasons may need to arrange make-up time to fulfill clinical rotation requirements.
3. For further details regarding university closures and policies related to inclement weather, please refer to Grand Valley State University's policy.