CSO Capacity Analysis

Because Covenant House Academies of Detroit serves students who have often overcome significant adversities, have previously dropped out, or identify as homeless, alternate measurements of student success are used by the Charter Schools Office ("CSO"). The CSO notes that Covenant House staff and board are mission-focused, allocate resources effectively to support overall student well-being, and have both the capacity and adaptability to successfully meet operational challenges that are inherent in serving this student population. The CSO further notes an effective partnership with wrap-around services, including temporary on-campus housing, that help students transition from their current situations into better ones, and allow them to focus on academic success to earn their high school diplomas.
