CSO Capacity Analysis

The University Preparatory Academy (“UPA”) Middle School demonstrates evidence that well-designed systems that are throughout the entire network of UPA schools are in place. However, the CSO noted both academic performance is only slightly higher than, or on par with, similar schools and lower-than-anticipated matriculation from the elementary campuses. During the renewal process, the CSO saw evidence that UPA is strengthening connections between schools in its system. The CSO believes that the school has the capacity and will to achieve these enhanced connections, and that this will result in stronger academic results.
